Athletes of the Week

**CIS weekly award winner*

Female/Male Winners

Female: Breanne George, Saskatchewan (hockey)

University of Saskatchewan forward Breanne George helped the Huskies to their first-ever sweep of the No. 4 ranked Manitoba Bisons with four goals and two assists in the two games.

In Friday's 3-2 win, the third-year Saskatoon native scored all three goals for the No. 10 Huskies. The first at 19:45 in the first period and the others in the third period at 4:00 and 7:22. All three came on the power play.

On Saturday in the 6-1 win, George scored the Huskies second goal of the game at 10:30 in the first period. She also assisted on the Huskies first and third goals in the game.

George now sits second in scoring in the Canada West with 27 points.

The Huskies travel to Edmonton to face the No. 2-ranked Alberta Pandas the weekend of January 22-23.

Male: Greg Stewart, Thompson Rivers (basketball)

Fourth-year WolfPack basketball forward Greg Stewart is a big man in stature (7'2") and now he is putting in performances that equal his size, having combined to pick up 52 points, 35 rebounds in a weekend split with the Victoria Vikes.

Against UVic on the weekend of January 15-17, Stewart recorded consecutive double-doubles, giving him 10 straight including non-conference games. In Friday's series-opener, despite the 76-67 loss, the Business major had 28 points and 16 rebounds. On Saturday the WolfPack recorded their first-ever victory over the Vikes (7-4), thanks largely to Stewart's 24 points, 19 rebounds.

This season, the Kamloops, B.C. native has been in the top three in rebounds in the CIS and has led Canada West in that category since Week 4. He is averaging 16.5 points, ninth-best in CWUAA, and 11.9 boards per game. Stewart is also third in field goal percentage (.577) and first in blocked shot (2.8).

On a personal note, Stewart is doing this with only the use of one arm. He doesn't let his disability bother him and is an inspiration to not only his teammates, but others as well.

The WolfPack (2-10) are back home this coming week (Jan 22 and 23), entertaining Saskatchewan (7-5) and Alberta (6-8).
